Message From The Principal's Desk

The school is the catalyst in making our students wholeheartedly perfect to face the world. We nurture the strength of every single child, instilling in them courage, positivity and providing them with a multi-facet platform for success and growth, we make them world citizens.

BRJP is dedicated to the people of Pardi with a school that is confluence of 21st century technology with traditional values and equip them with an intellectually stimulating and emotionally positive environment so as to develop self confidence, leadership talent, skills, scientific temperament and sportsmen spirit in students; thus always challenging, committing, and trying to achieve perfection making the students successful in all that they do preparing them for the future.

We plan, believe and achieve the objective of education, which is a collective effort of both the school and home. Our student centered approach helps them achieve practical skills, making them creative and imaginative, logical yet critical enabling the students to apply their learning to any situations that come their way. Let us imagine with our mind, believe with all our heart and achieve with all the might, the Utopian thought fulfilling the beauty and aspiration of both the students and the school making consistent effort to become better every single day.

Dr. Mrs. Chanchala N. Bhatt
(Principal)

Message From The President Desk

The moment your child enters at BRJPP, our aim is to equip him or her with skills needed to face the real world. We nurture in them from an early age the skills of planning, organizing, questioning, reasoning, working in a team and dealing with challenges confidently and triumphantly.

"Our mission is to provide positive environment for a child to stretch his inherent learning and competencies through a self-discovery process". At BRJP, we consider each child a treasure entrusted to us who is in itself unique and ready to be molded where emphasis is on learning something new and engaging. We not only nurture but educate the child through a journey that leads to the attainment of knowledge and skills. The result we see are mature people that think like global citizens, living with tolerance, respect, appreciative of diverse cultures and religions. It is our humble hard work to ensure that the student has values which drive them towards excellence, ethics which gives them strength and traditions which keep them grounded and make them proud of their legacy.

This is an era of change, partnership, and individual development, we need to recognize, appreciate, applaud and encourage the budding individual—the student. For all-round growth and holistic development of student, I firmly believe in strong partnership between school and home. We expect the support and wholehearted involvement on the part of parents in all we do, working together, to make the family, the society, the nation proud of our children.

Students' Council

Every year, the school follows our democratic system of government and forms the Student's council, preparing students with leadership qualities to lead the school function and maintain discipline, giving them responsibility and doing their duties with utmost honesty and integrity. This year too, the outgoing representatives handed over their badges to the newly elected council ring members, a honour the student waits in his student life. The head boy, head girl, the house captains, took oath to fulfill the responsibilities vested to them with devotion, diligence, integrity and honesty. Our principal Mam, Dr. Mrs. Chanchala Bhatt advised them and encouraged them to fulfill their responsibilities by being true to the core values of democracy and ethics.

BUDS OF BALMANDIR

The tiny buds of DJ Damania pre primary school are the most active members, the ones always on a voyage of exploration and learning through activity. All through the year, these tiny tots engage and learn through role play, craft, dance, sports, academics games, stories, rhymes and various festivals. They are the most happy and happening crowd of small people who celebrate various days...corn day, green day, independence day, holi festival, diwali festival, fruit day, feast, each day a celebration of life and learning.

Two students of Sr. K.G. took part in poetry recitation competition held at Upasana school, where Shreya Kamdi stood 3rd and brought honor to the school.

Festivals As BRJP Family

BRJP family celebrates the main festivals as one big happy family. The JANMASTAMI FESTIVAL was celebrated on the school grounds with drizzles and showers of rain, students dancing and enjoying the matki phod program with music...govinda ala..re...The spirit of brotherhood was celebrated with RAKSHABANDHAN festival. The students came in colorful attire where the whole atmosphere was charged with gaiety, sisters tied rakhi to brothers and brothers brought sweets and chocolates for them with a promise to protect and support them. The festival of dance, NAVRATRI was celebrated with great zest and fevour when the school grounds came alive with garba music and the whole school swaying to the traditional tunes. The festival of lights, DIWALI was celebrated by making non-fried foods on the last day of the term. The feast brought together delicacies made by students with team work. Various creative activities like festoon making, lamp decoration, rangoli was also conducted. The students danced to their heart's fill when Santa Clause came to the school to celebrate CHRISTMAS with them. The importance of the festival was explained to them. Again, we the BRJPP family celebrated HOLI FESTIVAL by putting various colors on each other and thus promising to keep our ideas and life colorful.

SPORTS DAY

“Sports are a microcosm of society”. The school celebrated the sports day with a lot of planning and execution. It was fruit of many days of practice of students where on that day the students presented various mass talent as they showcased their it in front of a huge gathering of spectators of parents on 16th January 2020 along with dignitaries of the Pardi Education Society and their sister institutions. Dr. Anant Agarwal (MD) and Dr. Kavita Agarwal (plastic Surgeon) graciously presided the function and witnessed championships achieved by team work and intelligence. The champions were led to victory stand and felicitated by medals. The students of the school who had represented at national and state level were also given prize and mementos All in all it was a successful program where the student understood that to play a sport it will teach you how to win honorably, lose gracefully, respect authority, work with others, manage your time and stay out of trouble.

NATIONAL FESTIVALS

National festivals like 15th August and 26 January are celebrated under the banner of The Pardi Education Trust with all sister institutions. This year, 15th August was celebrated in a novel way where the students of the school represented at the jilla level and presented a nukkad natak at the cross roads of Pardi based on Cleanliness. This was appreciated and applauded by one and all. Whereas 26th January was celebrated at the college campus with flag hoisting, march past by various schools of the Pardi Education Society where our school's band was the star of the whole program. The students were distributed biscuits and chocolates after the celebration. Gandhiji's 150 Birth Anniversary celebrations: Gandhiji's 150th birth anniversary was celebrated with many activities that Gandhiji liked. In the school auditorium, the school choir sang Gandhiji's favorite bhajans like vaishnavjan....and raghupati raghav raja ram..... speeches were given on his life and work and his input in our freedom. The students took out a rally to the cross roads to celebrate where various students were dressed as many freedom fighters and made a positive influence on common people. We all know Gandhiji advocated self-discipline and cleanliness. Keeping this thought in mind, the students cleaned the school, grounds and building thoroughly along with washrooms and classes. The housekeeping staff who every keep our premises clean were also felicitated and appreciated by giving token of love and respect gifts and flowers.
